Subject: U.S. Supreme Court-Petition for Rehearing: Judicial Disqualification

Date: Fri, 19 Oct 2007 10:49 am

Dear Richard,

I have not received any response to my below e-mail, sent three days ago -- which I very much need, as my petition for rehearing of the Supreme Court's denial of my cert petition must be filed by next Friday, October 26th.

I would also like to give prominence to the following quote from the 1996 edition of your Judicial Disqualification book. Do you repeat this statement in your 2003 edition?

“...the theoretical underpinnings of American judicial disqualification jurisprudence remain murky and unsettled. In fact, the modern American case precedents that deal with judicial disqualification issues are replete with inconsistencies, which suggest the absence of a sound theoretical base...” § 1.6

I would, of course, be pleased to send you the cert petition in my important "disruption of Congress" case -- whose overarching issues are those of judicial disqualification for interest and pervasive actual bias meeting the "impossibility of fair judgment" standard of Liteky v. United States. Let me know if you'd like a copy for purposes of your scholarship. Meantime, you can find the petition posted on CJA's website, www.judgewatch.org, accessible, with substantiating appendix, via the sidebar panel "'Disruption of Congress'-The Appeals"

Thanks.

Elena

Subject: The "Impossibility of Fair Judgment" Standard of Liteky

Dear Richard,

I tried to e-mail you several times in August, which I don't know if you received. Hope your wife has continued to recover from her hospitalization and that you are otherwise well.

Can you tell me whether you are familiar with any cases, in the 13 years since Liteky v. United States, 510 US 540 (1994), in which a court has found that its "impossibility of fair judgment" standard for judicial disqualification for pervasive actual bias had been met?

Thanks.

Elena
