RE: NYCLU support of a lawyer wrongfully suspended for more than three years

Dear Ms. Murray:

Congratulations again on The New York Times publication of the fine letter you co-authored with Mr. Siegel, "Suspension for a Remark is Excessive". As mentioned when we spoke last Friday, the case we wish to present to the New York Civil Liberties Union involves a more egregious suspension and violation of First Amendment rights--the retaliatory suspension of an attorney's license to practice law for speaking out against judicial corruption in our state courts.

Such retaliatory suspension, by an Order of the Appellate Division, Second Department dated June 14, 1991¹, which stated no reasons and made no evidentiary findings, was not based on a plenary proceeding or even notice of written charges--all contrary to the explicit requirements of the Appellate Division's own Rules Governing the Conduct of Attorneys (§691.4). Said suspension Order was illegal at the time it was issued (Matter of Nuey, 61 N.Y.2d 513, 474 N.Y.S.2d 714 (1984) and has been maliciously perpetuated for more than three years, notwithstanding the Court of Appeals' supervening decision more than two years ago in Matter of Russakoff, 72 N.Y.2d 520, 583 N.Y.S.2d 949 (1992), reiterating that interim suspension orders without findings must be vacated as a matter of law². No hearing preceded the Appellate Division's June 14, 1991 interim suspension Order--and none has been afforded in the three years since--the Appellate Division, Second Department denying, without reasons, all requests for a hearing.

² See Exhibits "G" and "H" to the Jurisdictional Statement.

The attorney so deprived of due process is my mother, Doris L. Sassower. At the time of her suspension, my mother was acting as pro bono counsel to petitioners in a politically-sensitive Election Law case, which challenged a written judge-trading cross-endorsements deal, implemented at judicial nominating conventions that violated the Election Law³. For your information, I enclose my mother's Martindale-Hubbell listing, which always gave her its highest "AV" rating throughout the years it rated her, as well as a copy of a letter from the Fellows of the American Bar Foundation, confirming her election to membership in that distinguished body.

At your suggestion, late on Friday afternoon my mother telephoned your "intake intern". After discussing the matter with her, the intern requested that my mother send copies of her Article 78 proceeding Sassower v. Mangano, et al. That proceeding--now before the New York Court of Appeals--alleges and documents the Appellate Division's manipulation of the disciplinary mechanism--which it controls--for ulterior, retaliatory purposes⁴.

In view of the statement in your published letter that:

"As Attorney General, Mr. Koppell has the highest obligation to uphold the letter and spirit of the Constitution and the laws of the State of New York", we trust you will be absolutely appalled by the unconstitutional and illegal manner in which the Attorney General of our State defended the judicial respondents in Sassower v. Mangano, et al. What he did was to permit the very judges accused of criminal conduct to decide their own case⁵--in violation of Judiciary Law §14 and the Rules Governing Judicial Conduct--so as to grant the legally insufficient and demonstrably perjurious dismissal motion of their attorney, the Attorney General⁶.

⁴ See, particularly, 5-8 of Mr. Schwartz' 3/14/94 letter to the Court of Appeals and pp. 14-17 of the 7/19/94 reargument/renewal motion.

⁵ See ¶6 of the Jurisdictional Statement.

⁶ See ¶¶12, 13, 22, 24 of the Jurisdictional Statement, pp. 12-17 of Mr. Schwartz' 3/14/94 letter to the Court of Appeals.

As the submissions before the Court of Appeals establish, Mr. Koppell, as Attorney General, has argued, contrary to law and without the slightest legal authority, that the Appellate Division, Second Department was free to decide the Article 78 proceeding against itself. He has further argued, without legal authority, that there should be no appellate review of the resulting self-interested decision in its favor.

As shown by the reargument/reconsideration motion, now sub judice before the Court of Appeals, Mr. Koppell has not only failed to defend the constitutionality of Judiciary Law §90--found unconstitutional twenty years ago by Judge Jack Weinstein in his extraordinary dissenting opinion in Mildner v. Gulotta, 405 F. Supp. 182 (1975)⁷--but has failed even to defend the constitutionality of the Article 78 statute, interpreted by Mr. Koppell as permitting judges sued thereunder to decide their own case⁸ (see 8/8/94 reply affidavit, ¶¶10-13).

We urgently need your organizational support before the Court of Appeals and immediate assistance in preparing a petition for a writ of certiorari to the U.S. Supreme Court, which we anticipate will be inevitable.

In addition, we require organizational and legal backing for a federal action under 42 U.S.C. §1983 based upon the deliberate deprivation of my mother's First Amendment, due process, and equal protection rights. We believe such federal action should also seek a declaration that Judiciary Law §90 and the Appellate Division, Second Department's rules are unconstitutional. For detailed discussion on that subject, I specifically refer you to pp. 16-23 of the July 19, 1994 reargument/reconsideration motion and enclose a copy of the Mildner v. Gulotta case.

Please let us hear from you soon.

Yours for a quality judiciary,

Suspension for a Remark Is Excessive

To the Editor:

The suspension by New York State's Attorney General, G. Oliver Koppell, of Thomas Neidl, chief of his office's criminal prosecutions bureau, for having made disparaging remarks about homosexuals and lesbians (news article, Aug. 26) inappropriately infringes upon Mr. Neidl's First Amendment rights.

A woman said, you report, that her answering machine had taped Mr. Neidl saying that homosexuals "shouldn't have kids."

While it was perfectly appropriate — and given the offensive nature of Mr. Neidl's remarks, accurate — for the Attorney General to condemn the remarks as "personally repugnant," suspension of Mr. Neidl from his supervisory position on the basis only of his statements offends basic values respecting free expression.

The critical question here must turn on job performance. Principles of free speech counsel against suspension or dismissal on the basis of expression in the absence of evidence that such expression has seriously impaired Mr. Neidl's ability to perform the tasks assigned to him as deputy chief.

As Attorney General, Mr. Koppell has the highest obligation to uphold the letter and spirit of the Constitution and the laws of the State of New York. We urge Mr. Koppell, even as he rightfully continues to deplore the bigotry reflected in Mr. Neidl's unfortunate remarks, to reverse his decision to suspend Mr. Neidl.
