Elena:

As a natural outgrowth of our mission, we are concentrating our energies on developing and supporting best practices in the areas of judicial performance evaluation, judicial selection, case management, and case processing - - all with a view toward trying to be constructive proponents of change that will help provide procedural fairness to litigants.

Thank you for reviewing the information on our website and for your interest in IAALS.

responds to what I recounted about the Institute's website, which I set forth in my e-mail to you, at 6:19 am. It appears below.

Are you saying that there is something germane on the Institute's website that I have not indicated in that e-mail? If so, please give me the link to what you want me to see - or directly answer the queries posed by my yesterday's memo.

Thank you.

Elena:

Again, I refer you to my two previous responses to your query. Thank you.
