Subject: From The New York Times Public Editor

Thank you for contacting the Public Editor. My assistant and I read every message that we receive. Please note that this office deals specifically with issues of journalistic integrity at The New York Times. Due to the number of e-mails that we receive on a daily basis, we are not able to respond personally to everyone who writes.

If a further reply is warranted you will be hearing from us in a timely manner.

Some messages to the public editor may be published in my column or on my blog. Please let me know if you do not want your message published.

Please note that below the break you will find information on the corrections process, submitting an op-ed, contacting The Times, customer service complaints and more.

Very Truly Yours,

Margaret Sullivan
Public Editor

CONTACTING THE TIMES NEWSROOM

Since this office works outside the newsroom, it is against our policy to forward unsolicited e-mails to Times staffers. And, since this office does not assign stories, tips and story ideas should be sent to the appropriate desk:

news-tips@nytimes.com
bizday@nytimes.com
foreign@nytimes.com
metro@nytimes.com
national@nytimes.com
sports@nytimes.com
washington@nytimes.com

Media inquiries: http://www.nytimes.com/press/press_contact.html

CORRECTIONS

Requests for corrections should be submitted to The Times at nytnews@nytimes.com. Please include the name of the article, the date in which the article appeared and the platform on which you read it (print, online, tablet, cell phone, etc.)

If you are dissatisfied with the response you receive, please feel free to let us know.

CUSTOMER CARE

All delivery complaints or circulation questions should be sent directly to customercare@nytimes.com. Questions regarding nytimes.com should be sent to help@nytimes.com.

Our office does not involve itself with customer service concerns.

LETTERS / OP-ED SUBMISSIONS

All letters to the editor should be submitted to letters@nytimes.com. All op-ed submissions should be sent to oped@nytimes.com. Our office does not serve as a conduit for op-ed or letter submissions.
