Final Judicial Pay Panel Meeting Set for Tomorrow

08-25-2011

The final meeting of the Commission on Judicial Compensation is set for tomorrow in Manhattan and is open to the public. The meeting begins at 10:30 a.m. in Hearing Room 510 at 25 Beaver St. The commission is expected to conclude the meeting with a vote by its seven members to recommend new pay levels for state judges over the four fiscal years beginning April 1, 2012. The judges have gone since 1999 without a salary increase.

Those intending to attend the meeting must notify the commission no later than 8 p.m. today at www.judicialcompensation.ny.gov to gain security clearance to the building. The meeting will also be webcast at the same site.
