TO: Robert Lewis/WNYC

Following up my voice mail for you, left minutes ago, upon realizing that I had misaddressed my below two February 16th e-mail, intended for you, not David Lewis, who apparently also works at WNYC. Apologies.

I understand, from your voice mail, that you are away until February 26th. I look forward to speaking with you upon your return about what you will rapidly recognize to be a succession of interrelated, politically-explosive, MAJOR news stories.

Hopefully, by then, I – and you – will have received a response from Reclaim New York – and its “partner”, the Empire Center for Public Policy. As yet, I have received no response from either.

Thank you.

TO: David Lewis/WNYC

Following up my below e-mail, I assume you've seen Reclaim New York's February 14th “RECLAIMER” entitled “WNYC Attacks On Reclaim New York Only Shows Mission to Empower New Yorkers Is More Important Than Ever”:
<https://www.reclaimnewyork.org/2018/02/14/wnyc-attacks-reclaim-new-york-show-mission-empower-new-yorkers-important-ever/>.

It purports that “Any New Yorker who is not getting the accountability they deserve from their government can contact our regional staff, and get help. It doesn't matter who they are, or what their exact concern may be” and that Reclaim New York is “an organization that allows anyone to pick up the phone and get help on an issue they care about”.
