

From: Gary Zerman <gzerman@hotmail.com>
To: judgewatchers@aol.com
Subject: NYTimes case
Date: Thu, 13 Sep 2007 2:49 pm

Elena:

Since you have been on holiday, I d/n/k if you heard about the MoveOn.org full page-$165,000 ad that the NYTimes ran "GENEERAL PETRAUS OR GENERAL BETRAY US?"

Not only was the content suspect and a cheap shot (but I guess it would be allowed per 1st Amendment's tortured NYTimes v. Sullivan standard, if NYTimes practice was to take ALL ads), but more critical and in definite contradiction/violation of journalistic principles and ethics, the NYTimes apparently gave MoveOn a $100,000 discount, as it charged them only $65,000, and then also failed to disclose such.

This topic was discussed today on Bill O'Reilly's radio show, and his co-host (side-kick straightman) was Lis Wiehl. During the program Wiehl commented that what the NYTimes did (discount) violated journalistic ethics.

I was the last caller, in the last hour, and stated that public needed to realize how serious this issue with the NYTimes was, that clearly it was not practicing journalism, had taken sides and that it was thus practicing propaganda, but also it must be recognized the NYTimes had been doing it for over 30 years. I then stated that this problem had been brought to Ms. Wiehl's attention by Elena Sassower, who was suing the NYTimes for journalistic fraud, but that no one in the media would cover that lawsuit.

O'Reilly then said he was looking at right then at Wiehl, and she was showing she had no idea about what I was talking about. I don't know when after that I was cut off, but I said that Ms. Sassower personally handed documents to Ms. Wiehl about the case. Wiehl then stated she had no idea what I was talking about. O'Reilly then said we can't talk about something we don't know anything about. Bla, bla, bla.

What phonies. The above act by the NYTimes, if true and can be documented, should be used to bolster your case. GLZ.

Can you find the hidden words? Take a break and play Seekadoo! http://club.live.com/seekadoo.aspx?icid=seek_hotmailtextlink1