Dear Mr. Getler,

Thank you for your prompt response. I am happy to follow whatever the usual protocol is. With all due respect, however, I would have expected that before you called upon Mr. Cauvin and his editor to respond to my complaint, as only generally identified by my phone messages and e-mail to you, you would want to obtain more of the specifics. As to these, I am most eager to speak with you, at your convenience, so that your professional assessment of the situation may be properly informed.

Again, thank you.

Elena Sassower
