Are you the John M. Levy who wrote the above-entitled law review article (Santa Clara Law Review, Vol. 22 (1982) pp. 95-116? If so, thank you for having written so important an article -- now before the U.S. Supreme Court in support of its granting of a petition for a writ of certiorari in an unprecedented and politically-explosive "disruption of Congress" case.

The full petition is posted on the website of the non-partisan, non-profit citizens' organization, Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. (CJA) -- www.judgewatch.org, -- accessible via the top panel "Latest News", as well as via the sidebar panel "'Disruption of Congress-The Appeals".

Citation to your article appears in the petition's Table of Authorities at page xviii (directly preceding & facing the petition's page 1), with the argument based thereon at page 36.

Although time is short, would you be interested in filing an amicus curiae brief in support of the petition? Do you know of others who might?

Thank you for your anticipated response.

With appreciation,

Elena Sassower, Director
