Please advise why the Compensation Committee's website, <https://nyscompensation.ny.gov/index.html>, has not posted the videos of its November 28th and November 30th hearings – and the written statements of its few witnesses and the substantiating materials they furnished. Also, hasn't the Committee received comments and submissions from others? Why are they not posted, as well?

And why does the Compensation Committee's website not include links to the websites of the prior compensation commissions – most importantly, to the Commission on Legislative, Judicial and Executive Compensation, whose website is <http://nyscommissiononcompensation.org/index.shtml>. As you can see, it posted the videos and transcripts of its hearings, the submissions and comments it received – and also had a panel entitled "Prior Salary Commission". The referred-to "Prior Salary Commission" was the 2011 Commission on Judicial Compensation, chaired by Mr. Thompson – and the link to its website, www.judicialcompensation.ny.gov, which was then live, is, apparently, not live currently.

As a result of my prompting, the Commission on Judicial Compensation's website posted the video of its single July 20, 2011 hearing (for about five weeks, which it removed prior to rendering its August 29, 2011 report) and partially posted the submissions and comments it had received, prior to the hearing, at the hearing, and thereafter.
