FROM:

We have just been informed by Senate Majority Leader Mitchell's office that they are unable to locate our voluminous submission to the Senate Judiciary Committee on the judicial nomination of Andrew O'Rourke.

Since it is apparent that the Senate Judiciary Committee has continued to report out of Committee judicial nominations--despite the documentary evidence presented by our submission relative to the failure of the screening process--we would appreciate your accessing the submission immediately so it can be put to proper use by the Senate Majority Leader.

In that connection, we fax herewith a copy of our May 18th letter to Senate Majority Leader Mitchell--which was previously sent to each and every member of the Senate Judiciary Committee--without any response from the Committee or the individual Senators.

FYI, we enclose our Letter to the Editor, entitled "Untrustworthy Ratings" that appeared in the July 17th issue of The New York Times.

Please telephone us ASAP to confirm that the submission will be made available to the Senate Majority Leader.

Dear Mr. Schwing - To your convenience I am resending our yesterday's fax. The 4 pages of enclosures highlight the significance of our critique beyond the O'Rourke nomination.
P.S. - I have left a message
w/ R Senate Majority Leader Mitchell's office to make a written request
for our critique.

Thank you!

[FYI, have also enclosed
a piece that appeared in NY magazine
saved for
you on CD-ROM]
