Dear Ms. Schwabe:

Please be advised that on Friday, November 4th, I commenced a lawsuit against The New York Times for libel (defamation & defamation per se) and journalistic fraud by filing a summons with notice. Pursuant to New York law, I have 120 days in which to serve the summons with notice -- after which The Times has 20-30 days to demand the complaint. I hope to serve the summons with notice on December 23, 2005 -- the year anniversary of my release from the six-months incarceration in the "disruption of Congress" case, suppressed by The Times.

I have already drafted the complaint -- and seek the guidance of lawyers with an expertise in libel, the First Amendment, fraud etc. to ensure that it contains all requisite allegations to be successful. What referrals are you able to make?

Thank you.

Dear Ms. Schwabe:

Thank you for your response. My complaint against The New York Times is almost fully drafted and I will be serving and filing it on Friday. I would appreciate if a libel law attorney might be found by tomorrow, who I could consult with and, if agreeable, retain to advise and assist in this high-profile, history-making case.

Again thank you.

Just a note to let you know I haven't forgotten you but am having difficulty with telephone tag etc and in finding someone willing to undertake this matter. Will keep you posted.
