Dear Ms. Sassower,

Thank you for your message and your statement of appreciation for the Nieman Watchdog Project and the current issue of Nieman Reports.

The Nieman Foundation at Harvard is an educational program, offering fellowships to working journalists from around the world for a year of study at Harvard. The Nieman Watchdog Project and the magazine are part of the foundation's outreach to the larger world of journalism. However, the foundation is not permitted by its charter to engage in a public effort such as the one you represent.

With kind regards,
