Subject: What is your professional judgment -- as a journalist & seasoned lawyer -- of the primary-source, documentary EVIDENCE I have furnished you?

TO: Dan McLaughlin/National Review

I have received no response from you to either my May 29th e-mail or my below June 1st e-mail – and assume this is because you have not responded.

It is your professional judgment – as a journalist and seasoned lawyer – that the primary-source, documentary EVIDENCE they each provided you do NOT represent explosive, MAJOR news that the National Review should be taking the lead on? Please advise – including as to your conflicts of interest, impacting on your judgment -- so that I may accurately represent the situation in my communications to the National Review.

Particularly with respect to the below, time is of the essence.

Thank you.

Subject: LEAD -- Senate Judiciary Committee procedures for vetting Gov. Cuomo's nominations of Singas & Cannataro to the NY Court of Appeals -- & request to testify in strong opposition at their confirmation hearings, with EVIDENCE, decisive of their unfitness

TO: Dan McLaughlin/National Review

I have been greatly looking forward to hearing from you concerning my May 29th e-mail, furnishing you with my May 25th e-mail to ALL members of the New York Assembly Judiciary Committee regarding its impeachment investigation of Cuomo. Here now, below, is the e-mail I sent this morning to ALL members of the New York Senate Judiciary Committee regarding its confirmation of Cuomo's two Court of Appeals nominees. You are the first member of the press to whom I am sending it.

Kindly confirm your interest – and that, as requested, you have forwarded my May 29th e-mail to Andrew McCarthy (RE: his May 19th article "The Cuomo Impeachment Probe Is A Sham") and to Caroline Downey (RE: her May 26th article "Cuomo Dismisses New York Ethics Commission as 'Meaningless'"), from whom I also have heard nothing.

Thank you.
