

From: Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. (CJA) <elena@judgwatch.org>
Sent: Tuesday, May 16, 2023 11:25 AM
To: 'elena@judgwatch.org'

Subject: NPR Public Editor sent 11:23 am via website:
<https://help.npr.org/contact/s/contact?request=Ask-the-Public-Editor-about-ethics>

It's been a week since I e-mailed NPR Public Editor McBride a complaint against New York Public Radio for journalistic fraud -- and I have received no acknowledgment or response from the public editor or from the complained-against reporters and editors who I cc'd. Is this not concerning? What are NPR's procedures for complaints -- and why on the drop-down as to what "I'm writing about" is there no category "complaints"?

The above link is to the webpage where my May 8, 2023 complaint is posted.

Thank you.

Elena Sassower, Director
Center for Judicial Accountability, Inc. (CJA)
www.judgwatch.org
914-421-1200
elena@judgwatch.org

CJA's webpage for May 8, 2023 complaint: <https://www.judgwatch.org/web-pages/press-suppression/public-media/NY-Public-Radio-NPR/5-8-23-complaint-to-public-editor.htm>