TO: Lynette Clemetson, Director/Impact of Government-NPR

Following up our phone conversation a short time ago, I am at a loss to understand what happened to such an important project as Impact of Government, such that it never got beyond its first phase – a pilot project in 8 states (Indiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, Florida) – as to which I am unable to find any information.

Please call me, at your convenience, next week, so that we can further discuss the situation. Surely there are many foundations and civic-minded philanthropists who would be privileged to contribute to such an important endeavor. Were you not able to get additional money from Open Society Foundations, beyond its initial $1.8 million grant?

It would be my privilege to assist in securing grants and other monies.

Thank you.
